

Taylor Leaphart

Taylor is a financial coach with four years of experience and over 500 clients served, dedicated to helping families build wealth and generational legacy through intentional living. She holds a psychology degree with a focus on family and children studies, along with graduate coursework in financial therapy, and her path, from working in a level 3 children's group home, to AmeriCorps service, to coaching, has been rooted in a single conviction: it is easier to raise strong children than to repair broken men.

As Director of Community Outreach for Akoma Cares, Taylor builds partnerships across the community, sources and represents the organization at local events, and connects families to resources that support their well-being. She brings that same heart for service to her work with Kindred Hearts of SC, where she offers her digital marketing and financial coaching skills to enhance the reach of the organization.

A stay-at-home homeschooling parent of three, Taylor also leads Mindful Legacy Building, a platform centered on financial literacy, intentional fitness, and generational legacy, living out the same servant leadership she brings to every family and organization she serves.

The logo for Kindred Hearts of South Carolina features the words "Kindred" and "Hearts" in a large, bold, blue sans-serif font. Below "Kindred" is the text "of South" and below "Hearts" is "Carolina", both in a smaller, lighter blue sans-serif font. A vertical blue line with a subtle diagonal texture separates the two halves of the logo.

Kindred Hearts
of South Carolina